The School

BI Norwegian School of Management has become one of the larger Higher Education Institutions in Norway and one of the largest business school in Europe.

Determined to become a major player in the knowledge economy BI Norwegian School of Management received, under the auspices of European Foundation for Management Development (EFMD), the European Quality Label Equis in 1999. (European Quality Improvement System). BI is eligible for participation in programs authorized by the US Higher Education Act of 1965.

The School is a member of the European Foundation for Management Development (EFMD).

BI Norwegian School of Management employs over 800 people and has about 340 faculty members. Over 80 of Norway's major enterprises within industry, trade and services are linked with The Norwegian School of Management BI through various co-operation agreements. Today the total number of full-time and part-time students exceeds 18 447. Mostly Norwegians and other Scandinavians, but with a growing number of international students from all corners of the world.

The BI faculty holds degrees from American universities such as Wharton, Yale, M.I.T., Harvard, Case Western and Stanford, from Swedish schools such as the University of Lund and the Stockholm School of Economics, and from many European schools such as INSEAD in France, Hochschule St.Gallen in Switzerland, Universität Stuttgart in Germany and the London School of Economics and Political Science in the UK.

The City

The city of Oslo is the thriving and bustling home to a great number of students. Besides BI Norwegian School of Management, The University of Oslo and the Oslo University College are also located in Oslo.

Few other capitals can offer and scenery as Oslo. You such a variety and activities may have breakfast at the beach watching the seagulls following a fishing boat. Lunch you may choose to have at a downtown café listening to the sounds of the metropolis. For dinner, you can most probably find a restaurant true to your taste, from whichever part of the world you are. And at night you may choose to throw yourself into a throbbing nightlife or sit around a bonfire with your friends in the woods overlooking the city. Oslo is big enough for all this to happen, but still small enough for you to do it all in a day!
