

Level UP is an Innovative Work-Integrated Learning program powered by Riipen and sponsored by the Government of Canada to prepare students in post-secondary education and employers (or organizations) to thrive in the future of work.

How Does It Work

Students, individually or in groups, connect with organizations for short term paid projects that help them gain relevant work experiences, build professional networks, gain career clarity, and develop their skills.

Eligibility Requirements

- Students registered in Canadian post-secondary education institutions, with no age limit; and
- Canadian citizens, permanent residents, or persons to whom refugee protection has been conferred under the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act; and
- Legally entitled to work in Canada in accordance with relevant provincial or territorial legislation and regulations

Project Examples

Students from all areas of studies are invited to join. A few project examples include:

- Research & development of an organization's diversity policy
- Research for a company's international expansion
- Sales Support
- Feasibility study for a new company or product
- Literature research and synthesis
- Content Writing
